

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

December 13, 2018

Dr. Jill Lopez, Essentials PetCare Director of Marketing, Appears as Guest on Take Me Home Podcast

The podcast will explore how Essentials PetCare is improving the lives of pets and their families through affordable and accessible, high quality veterinary care.

LARGO, FL – Angela Marcus, the host of Take Me Home podcast, talks with Dr. Jill Lopez, Director of Marketing for Essentials Pet Care. Offering a new approach to veterinary care, Essentials PetCare in Port Richey, FL is the first veterinary clinic to be housed inside of Walmart. The Company is pursuing a new business model that extends veterinary care to more American families.

This holiday season, Dr. Lopez and her team at Essentials PetCare are partnering with the Little Cats Rescue to find homes for the “12 Cats of Christmas.” Starting December 13th, one cat will be featured daily on the Essentials PetCare Facebook page. Be sure to spread word, like the page, share and adopt!

Listen to the show here: <https://www.petliferadio.com/TMHep124.html>

###

About Essentials PetCare

Established in 2015, Essentials PetCare, LLC provides affordable and accessible veterinary care for dogs and cats. The company’s mission is to expand veterinary care to a greater number of U.S. pet-loving families who would otherwise not seek basic and preventative care because of cost. Essentials PetCare believes that no animal should ever suffer or put their family at risk of contracting diseases due to affordability. For more information, visit EssentialsPetCare.com and follow us @EssentialsPetCare on Facebook and @EssentialsPet on Twitter.

Media Contact – Jill Lopez, DVM - Director of Marketing: JLopez@EssentialsPetCare.com or 727-475-6490